The friends of the Health bill, as it passed the Senate, The friends of the Health bill, as it passed the Senate, are fighting desperately. Enraged at their defeat in the Assembly caucus, they are making thrusts at every body whom they suppose was any way instrumental in whole movement as an insidious blow at the Governor by men who would do anything for power, and who are effecting that result—as if that body was not entirely playing into the bands of the Democrats. Those at the bottom of the Senate bill are the very men who defeated the patriot Wadsworth, and elected Heratio Seywith fabricating untruths by wholesale from materials nished by their own disordered brains, they have called to their aid the Albany correspondent of Ben. Wood's New-York News and are quoting with great gusto his account of a pretended caucus held here on the subject of the Health bill. I have no idea that any such gather-ing took place, but if one was held, no correspondent of caucus or meeting of the opponents of the Senate bill any member for or against any measure pending before the Legislature, except as he does it through these through the newspapers; and is there anything criminal or wrong in that !
